Dear Parents and Carers,

At Farsley Westroyd, we are committed to helping our children become safe, respectful and responsible users of technology. On Tuesday 10th, we will be taking part in Safer Internet Day, a national event that promotes safer and more positive online experiences for all young people.

To mark the day, children across the school will be taking part in a range of age-appropriate activities throughout the week to support their understanding of online safety:

- Key Stage 2 (Years 3–6) will take part in engaging lessons from the Google Be Internet Legends programme, helping them explore online safety, digital footprints and how to be kind and courageous online.
- Key Stage 1 (Years 1–2) will use the Jessie & Friends resources from the National Crime Agency's CEOP Education team, focusing on staying safe and seeking help when needed.
- Reception and Nursery children will explore personal safety through the NSPCC PANTS (Privates are Private) lessons, helping them learn how to recognise unsafe situations and know how to speak up.

These sessions are a key part of our wider safeguarding and computing curriculum and support our school values of Enjoy, Believe, Achieve and Together by equipping our children with the knowledge and confidence to navigate the online world safely and respectfully.

To find out more about the schemes of work we follow, including our approach to online safety and PSHE, please visit the Curriculum > PSHE section of our school website:
