

Westroyd Primary School and Nursery Relationships and Sex Education Policy

Farsley Westroyd takes its responsibility to provide relevant, effective and responsible RSHE to all of its pupils as part of the school's personal, social, health education (PSHE) curriculum very seriously. The school wants parents/carers and pupils to feel assured that RSHE will be delivered at a level appropriate to both the age and development of pupils, and safe to voice opinions and concerns relating to the RSHE provision.

Vision

At Farsley Westroyd we deliver high quality RSHE that helps to create a safe school community in which our pupils can grow, learn and develop positive, healthy behaviour for life. We want children to be prepared for the physical and emotional changes they undergo at puberty and help them understand and learn about relationships.

At Westroyd we believe that Sex and relationships education:

- Is a partnership between home and school
- Ensures pupils' views are actively sought to influence lesson planning and teaching
- Starts early and is relevant to pupils at each stage in their development and maturity
- Is taught by people who are trained and confident in talking about issues such as healthy and unhealthy relationships, equality, pleasure, respect, abuse, sexuality, gender identity, sex and consent
- Includes the acquisition of knowledge, the development of life skills and respectful attitudes and values
- Has sufficient time to cover a wide range of topics, with a strong emphasis on relationships, consent, rights, responsibilities to others, negotiation and communication skills, and accessing services
- Helps pupils understand on and offline safety, consent, violence and exploitation
- Is both medically and factually correct and treats sex as a normal and pleasurable fact of life
- Is inclusive of difference: gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, ethnicity, culture, age, faith or belief, or other life experience
- Uses active learning methods, and is rigorously planned, assessed and evaluated
- Helps pupils understand a range of views and beliefs about relationships and sex in society including some of the mixed messages about gender, sex and sexuality from different sources including the media

Aims of the Policy

- To provide a clear document which is to be used by all stakeholders to gain an understanding of RSHE at Westroyd.
- To ensure continuity, progression and accountability in the teaching and learning of RSHE across school and Nursery.
- Raise the standards of RSHE across the school and nursery.

1. Context – why RSHE is important

We are required to teach Relationships Education as part of our PSHE curriculum. Current regulations and guidance from the Department for Education (DfE) state that from September 2020, all schools must deliver Relationships Education. High quality Relationships Education and RSHE help create a safe school community in which our pupils can grow, learn and develop positive, healthy behaviour for life.

It is essential for the following reasons:

- RSHE plays a vital part in meeting the schools' safeguarding obligations as outlined in the updated Keeping Children Safe in Education.
- The DfE 2025 statutory guidance states that, from September 2020, all schools providing primary education, including all-through schools and middle schools must teach Relationships Education.
- Children have a right to good quality education, as set out in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child.
- Children want to be prepared for the physical and emotional changes they undergo at puberty, and young people want to learn about relationships. Older pupils frequently say that Relationships and Sex Education was 'too little, too late and too biological'. Ofsted reinforced this in their 2013 'Not Yet Good Enough report.'
- Ofsted is clear that schools must have a preventative programme that enables pupils to learn about safety and risks in relationships.
- National Curriculum: RSHE plays an important part in fulfilling the statutory duties the school has to meet as section 2 of the National Curriculum framework \(DfE, 2013\) states
- The Department of Health set out its ambition for all children to receive high quality Relationships and Sex Education in the Sexual Health Improvement Framework (2013), while the Department for Education's paper, The Importance of Teaching \(2010\) highlighted that 'Children need high quality Relationships and Sex Education so they can make wise and informed choices' (p.46).
- These duties are set out in the 2002 Education Act and the 2010 Academies Act. Whole school (Section 5) Ofsted inspections consider the extent to which a school provides such a curriculum.
- Schools maintain a statutory obligation under the Children Act (2004) to promote their pupils' emotional wellbeing and improving their ability to achieve in school and under the Education Act (1996) to prepare children for the challenges, opportunities and responsibilities of adult life. A comprehensive RSHE programme can have a positive impact on pupils' health and wellbeing and their ability to achieve and can play a crucial part in meeting these obligations.

2. Development process

This policy was produced by Monique Martin (PSHE Lead). From September 2020, the law requires primary schools to consult on their Relationships Education policy.

Parents/carers were consulted through the schools website, letters home and an online survey, teaching and non-teaching staff were consulted through staff meetings and an online survey, and pupils were consulted through the curriculum coverage.

Governors were consulted through policy sharing at governor meetings. This policy has been approved and adopted by the head teacher and governing body. The member of staff responsible for overseeing and reviewing this policy is: Monique Martin. It will be reviewed briefly annually and in full every [2 – 3 years]. We are committed to the ongoing development of RSHE in our school. We will use the following indicators to monitor and evaluate progress:

- a coordinated and consistent approach to curriculum delivery has been adopted,
- the content of the RSHE curriculum is flexible and responsive to pupils' differing needs e.g. through the use of pupil perception data such as the My Health My School Survey

- children are receiving an entitlement curriculum for Relationships Education in line with DfE national statutory guidance and local guidance
- children are receiving an entitlement curriculum for Sex Education in line with national and local guidance
- there are clearly identified learning objectives for all RSHE activities and pupils' learning is assessed using both formative and summative approaches
- opportunities for cross-curricular approaches are being used where appropriate
- policy and practice is revised regularly and involves staff, governors, parents/carers and pupils
- opportunities are provided for parents/carers and members of our community to consider the purpose and nature of our RSHE, for example, through parent/carer information sessions/workshops
- a variety of methods are employed to communicate the key points of the policy and curriculum to the community e.g. through the school website

3. Location and dissemination

This policy document is freely available on request to the whole school community. The policy is referred to in the school prospectus as well as in relevant areas of the curriculum. A copy of the policy can be found on the school website. A physical copy of the policy is available free of charge from the school office.

4. Relationship to other policies

This policy supports/complements the following policies:

- Anti-bullying
- Assessment, Recording and Reporting
- Attendance (in particular in relation to FGM)
- Behaviour
- Child Protection/Safeguarding Children (including FGM)
- Confidentiality
- Continued Professional Development
- Equal Opportunities
- E-safety/IT
- Health & Safety
- Monitoring and Evaluation
- Pastoral
- Race Related Incidents
- Science
- SEN/Inclusion
- Teaching and Learning

Documents that inform the school's RSHE Policy include:

- Education Act (1996)
- Learning and Skills Act (2000)
- Education and Inspections Act (2006)
- Equality Act (2010)
- Supplementary Guidance SRE for the 21st Century (2014)
- Children and Social Work Act (2017)
- DfE: Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSHE) and Health Education: Statutory guidance for governing bodies, proprietors, head teachers, principals, senior leadership teams, teachers (2025)
- Keeping children safe in education – statutory safeguarding guidance (2025)
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child

5. Definition

Relationships and Sex Education is learning about the emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up, relationships, sex, human sexuality and sexual health. Some aspects are taught in science, and others are taught as part of personal, social, health and economic education (PSHE).

A comprehensive programme of RSHE provides accurate information about the body, reproduction, sex, and sexual health. It also gives children and young people essential skills for building positive, enjoyable, respectful and non-exploitative relationships and staying safe both on and offline.

Sex and relationships education (SRE) for the 21st century (2014)

The law (Learning and Skills Act 2000) dictates that 'Pupils should learn about the nature and importance of marriage for family life and the bringing up of children', but in 2000, the DfEE SRE Guidance added 'and stable relationships'. Leaving aside political and faith-based agendas; the key point here is that the guidance recognises that children need to grow up in a home which is based on stable family life, where the parents are married or, failing that, in a stable 'family'.

6. The principles of high quality RSHE in our school

Relationships and Sex Education:

- is a partnership between home and school
- ensures pupils' views are actively sought to influence lesson planning and teaching
- starts early and is relevant to pupils at each stage in their development and maturity
- is taught by people who are trained and confident in talking about issues such as healthy and unhealthy relationships, equality, pleasure, respect, abuse, sexuality, gender identity, sex and consent
- includes the acquisition of knowledge, the development of life skills and respectful attitudes and values
- has sufficient time to cover a wide range of topics, with a strong emphasis on relationships, consent, rights, responsibilities to others, negotiation and communication skills, and accessing services
- helps pupils understand on and offline safety, consent, violence and exploitation
- is both medically and factually correct and treats sex as a normal and pleasurable fact of life
- is inclusive of difference: gender identity, sexual orientation, special educational needs and disability, ethnicity, culture, age, faith or belief, or other life experience
- uses active learning methods, and is rigorously planned, assessed and evaluated
- helps pupils understand a range of views and beliefs about relationships and sex in society which may differ to their own
- teaches pupils about the law and their rights to confidentiality even if they are under 16, and is linked to school-based and community health services and organisations
- promotes equality in relationships, recognises and challenges gender inequality and reflects girls' and boys' different experiences and needs

7. Overall school aims for RSHE

Our approach to RSHE consists of a comprehensive and developmental programme of teaching and learning, which is delivered in the context of a Healthy School where the health and wellbeing of pupils and the whole school community are actively promoted. Our RSHE programme has a positive influence on the ethos, learning and relationships throughout the school. It is central to our values and to achieving our school's stated aims and objectives. Our RSHE programme helps pupils to develop the knowledge, understanding, skills and attitudes they need to live confident, healthy, independent lives now and in the future.

Through the provision outlined in this policy, the school's overall aims of RSHE are to teach and develop the following three main elements:

Attitudes and values:

- learn the importance of values and individual conscience and moral considerations
- learn the value of family life, marriage, and stable and loving relationships for the nurture of children
- learn the value of respect, love and care
- explore, consider and understand moral dilemmas
- develop critical thinking as part of decision-making

Personal and social skills:

- learn to manage emotions and relationships confidently and sensitively
- develop self-respect and empathy for others
- learn to make choices based on an understanding of difference and with an absence of prejudice
- develop an appreciation of the consequences of choices made
- manage conflict
- learn how to recognise and avoid exploitation and abuse

Knowledge and understanding:

- learn and understand physical development at appropriate stages
- understand human sexuality, reproduction, sexual health, emotions and relationships
- learn about contraception and the range of local and national sexual health advice, contraception and support services
- learn the reasons for delaying sexual activity, and the benefits to be gained from such delay, including the avoidance of unplanned pregnancy

Sex and Relationships Education Guidance DfEE

In addition to this, we also aim to:

- raise pupils' self-esteem and confidence
- develop communication and assertiveness skills that can help them stay true to their values if challenged by others, their peers or what they see in the media
- teach pupils to be accepting of the different beliefs, cultures, religions, sexual orientations, gender identity, physical and mental abilities, backgrounds and values of those around them
- support pupils to lead a healthy and safe lifestyle, teaching them to care for, and respect, their bodies
- provide pupils with the right tools to enable them to seek information or support, should they need it
- teach pupils about consent and their right to say no, in an age-appropriate manner
- to teach lessons that are sensitive to a range of views, values and beliefs
- ensure that staff teaching RSHE remain neutral in their delivery whilst ensuring that pupils always have access to the learning, they need to stay safe, healthy and understand their rights as individuals

The aim of RSHE is NOT to:

- encourage pupils to become sexually active at a young age
- promote a particular sexual orientation or gender identity
- sexualise children

RSHE does not sexualise children; it is part of the solution to concerns about sexualisation.

The evidence, as summarised here:

https://www.ncb.org.uk/sites/default/files/uploads/documents/Blog_reports/sef_doesRSHEwork_2010.pdf that comprehensive RSHE delays sexual activity for young people, and increases the likelihood of using contraception. The National Survey of Sexual Attitudes and Lifestyles (NATSAL, 2013) showed a link between school based RSHE and reductions in teenage pregnancy.

8. The wider context of RSHE

The school's RSHE programme will:

- be an integral part of the lifelong learning process, beginning in early childhood and continuing into adult life
- be an entitlement for all pupils, including those with additional learning and language needs
- be set within the wider school context and support family commitment and love, respect and affection, knowledge and openness
- recognise that family is a broad concept; not just one model, e.g. nuclear family
- encourage pupils and teachers to share and respect each other's views with cultural awareness and sensitivity
- ensure pupils are aware of different approaches to sexual orientation, without promotion of any particular family structure
- recognise that parents/carers are the key people in teaching their children about relationships, sex and growing up
- work in partnership with parents/carers and pupils, consulting them about the content of programme
- work in partnership with other health professionals and the wider community

RSHE contributes to:

- a positive ethos and environment for learning
- safeguarding pupils (Children Act 2004), promoting their emotional wellbeing, and improving their ability to achieve in school
- a better understanding of diversity and inclusion, a reduction in gender-based and homophobic, biphobic, transphobic (HBT) prejudice, bullying and violence and an understanding of the difference between consenting and exploitative relationships
- helping pupils keep themselves safe from harm, both on and offline, enjoy their relationships and build confidence in accessing services if they need help and advice
- reducing early sexual activity, teenage conceptions, sexually transmitted infections, sexual exploitation and abuse, domestic violence and bullying

High quality RSHE should be part of a broader developmental PSHE education programme. This learning should be linked to broader school policies and the curriculum in relevant subjects, as well as the school's pastoral policy.

Science teaches about the biological facts relating to human growth, puberty and reproduction. It may also include teaching about contraception and STIs. PSHE helps pupils to think about the different social contexts, influences and beliefs that affect personal behaviour. PSHE also develops a positive vocabulary and the strategies and skills children need to stay healthy and safe.

It is important to link to the ICT/computing curriculum, which teaches about online safety. It is vital for RSHE to teach that the internet and social media are important resources for learning and information, and a great opportunity to build social networks, as well as teaching about the risks and how to stay safe online. There will also be relevant learning in other subjects, such as citizenship or religious education, about the law and the views of religious and secular groups on different issues.

9. Key responsibilities for Relationships and Sex Education

The policy applies to:

- The head teacher
- All school staff
- The governing body
- Pupils
- Parents/carers

- Partner agencies working in or with the school
- Religious leaders/faith groups

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that RSHE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory components of RSHE (see appendix 2)

Specific responsibilities	Who – role?

10. Language

We aim to keep the language and vocabulary used across Westroyd consistent in order to safeguard both staff and pupils. Pupils will be taught the correct anatomical names for body parts, including penis, vulva, vagina, testicles, scrotum, and nipples. Pupils will understand that these parts of the body are private and will develop skills to understand and express their own boundaries around these body parts.

Slang or everyday terms used in certain social circles will be discussed; this will surround discussion about what is and isn't acceptable language to use. We will alert parents as to when anatomical terms are likely to be used in class. However, we might need to use the terms at other times, such as when dealing with incidents of misuse or disrespectful language. We will consider how pupils who are new to English will be supported in accessing and understanding the language used in RSHE lessons.

A Vocabulary Progression Map is used throughout the school so that staff are able to identify and use the correct vocabulary for each year group when teaching PSHE/RSHE lessons and across the curriculum. The vocabulary used within the school's RSHE programme is taken directly from the Kapow Primary scheme of work and is kept continuously updated. Rather than being published as a static appendix, the vocabulary progression map is maintained as a live document by Kapow Primary and can be accessed at any time via the links below. The long-term plan can be viewed at www.kapowprimary.com/subject-curriculum/rse-pshe/ and the vocabulary progression map at www.kapowprimary.com/subject-curriculum/rse-pshe/?curriculum-tab=vp.

Respectful Language

The use of respectful language which challenges sexism, homophobia and other forms of prejudice will be established in RSHE but will have benefits for the whole school community, both in and out of lessons; it helps to ensure we are a happy and healthy place to learn. Ofsted found that casual use of homophobic language in schools is often unchallenged (2013) – we always challenge it. The casual use of homophobic, biphobic and transphobic language in school will be challenged and pupils will be made aware that using the word ‘gay’ to mean something is rubbish is wrong and will not be tolerated. To tackle this, staff might say: ‘you’ve used the word ‘gay’, but not in the right way.’

As a result, pupils will hear references to, for example, ‘gay,’ ‘straight’ and different kinds of relationships as part of teaching and assemblies, for example when we talk about rights, respect or relationships.

It is good practice to use anatomical terms for genitalia and sexual parts of the body, for example vagina, breasts, penis and testicles from the offset, in Reception. Having the right language to describe the private parts of their body, and knowing how to seek help if they are being abused, are vital for safeguarding. Evidence to support this approach is outlined in the Children's Commissioner Report November 2015, 'Protecting Children from harm.'

11. Answering Questions

We acknowledge that sensitive and potentially difficult issues will arise in RSHE as pupils will naturally share information and ask questions. ‘They will often ask their teachers or other adults questions pertaining to sex or sexuality which go beyond what’s set of for Relationships Education. We also acknowledge that children of the same age may be developmentally at different stages leading to differing types of questions or behaviours.’

When spontaneous discussions arise, it is guided in a way that reflects the stated school aims and curriculum content for RSHE. As a first principle, we answer questions relating to taught, planned curriculum for that age group to the whole class. We answer questions, where appropriate, relating to areas beyond the taught, planned curriculum for that age group, in a sensitive and age-appropriate way, only to the pupil or pupils who have asked the question. If a member of staff is uncertain about the answer to a question, or indeed whether they should answer it, they will seek guidance from the RSHE leader/ Child Protection Officer. Questions may be referred to parents/carers if it is not appropriate to answer them in school. We will also use a Wonder Box where questions may be asked anonymously.

When answering questions, we ensure that sharing personal information by adults, pupils or their families is discouraged. Where a question or comment from a pupil in the classroom indicates the possibilities of abuse or risk of harm, teachers will pass this information to the designated person for safeguarding and child protection, in line with school policy and procedures.

Staff training will include sessions on how to deal with difficult questions. Agreed phrases, where appropriate, will be used in response to difficult questions. Phrases we will use are: ‘I can only answer question on the content of this lesson’ or ‘That is something that may be covered later on’ or ‘I can’t answer that question, but you could ask your parents/carers’

Ground rules are essential when discussing sensitive subject matters. Staff will establish clear parameters about what is appropriate and inappropriate in a whole class setting by for example:

- staff will set the tone by speaking in a matter-of-fact way
- pupils will be encouraged to write down questions, anonymously if desired, and post them in the Wonder Box
- staff will have time to prepare answers to all questions before the next session, and will choose not to respond in a whole class setting to any questions that are inappropriate or need one-to-one follow up
- if a verbal question is too personal, staff will remind the pupils of the ground rules
- if a question is too explicit, feels too old for a pupil, is inappropriate for the whole class, or raises concerns, staff will acknowledge it and promise to attend to it later on an individual basis
- staff will not provide more information than is appropriate to the age/developmental level of the pupil
- if staff are concerned that a pupil is at risk of abuse, the designated teacher will be informed and the usual child protection procedures followed

Adults are directed to use the “Helping Hand” (appendix 4) when faced with a difficult question.

1. Ground Rules: We check whether the question meets our Ground Rules for our class. Adults will direct the child to the Ground Rules if we feel the question does not meet them.
2. Personal: A question should never be personal and this should also be highlighted within the Ground Rules. We have the right to decline a question if it is personal.
3. Age appropriate: As a first principle, we answer questions relating to taught, planned curriculum for that age group to the whole class. We answer questions relating to areas beyond the taught, planned curriculum for that age group, in a sensitive and age-appropriate way, only to the pupil or pupils who have asked the question. We may also feel that it is necessary to inform the child that they are not at the appropriate age for their question to be answered yet, but it will be answered in Year X.
4. Vocabulary: If a question presents itself as difficult due to the vocabulary being used, the adult will direct the child to the appropriate use of vocabulary which has been outlined in this policy on the Kapow Primary vocabulary progression map.
5. Wonder Box: The adult may want to take some time to think about how to answer a question. It therefore may be beneficial to ask the child to write the question down to put in the the ‘Wonder Box’ to be answered in the future.

12. Key responsibilities for RSHE

i) All staff

All staff will:

- ensure that they are up to date with school policy and curriculum requirements regarding RSHE
- attend and engage in professional development training around RSHE provision, including individual and whole staff training/inset, where appropriate attend staff meetings to be introduced to any new areas of work and review the effectiveness of the approaches used
- report back to the RSHE Coordinator on any areas that they feel are not covered or inadequately provided for in the school’s RSHE provision, including resources
- encourage pupils to communicate concerns regarding their social, personal and emotional development in confidence and listen to their needs and support them
- follow the school’s reporting systems if a pupil comes to a member of staff with an issue that they feel they are not able to deal with alone
- ensure that their personal beliefs and attitudes will not prevent them from providing balanced RSHE in school
- tailor their lessons to suit all pupils in their class, across the whole range of abilities, faiths, beliefs, culture, gender identity and sexual orientations, including SEND
- ask for support in this from the school SEND coordinator or the RSHE Coordinator, should they need it

ii) Lead members of staff

The lead members of staff will receive training in their role and responsibilities. This supports them to lead on the development of the school’s policy and practice and to monitor its implementation. This practice includes the curriculum and approaches to teaching and learning, as well as whole school approaches to health and wellbeing.

The lead members of staff will:

- develop the school policy and review it on a yearly basis
- ensure all members of the governing body will be offered appropriate RSHE training
- ensure that all staff are given regular and ongoing training on issues relating to RSHE as well as how to deliver lessons on such issues
- ensure that all staff are up to date with policy changes, and familiar with school policy and guidance relating to RSHE, including new staff or supply staff
- provide support to staff members who feel uncomfortable or ill-equipped to deal with the delivery of RSHE to pupils
- ensure that RSHE is age appropriate and needs-led across all year groups; this means ensuring that the curriculum develops as the pupils do and meets their needs
- ensure that the knowledge and information regarding RSHE to which all pupils are entitled is provided in a comprehensive way
- support parent/carers involvement in the development of the RSHE curriculum

- ensure that their personal beliefs, values and attitudes will not prevent them from providing balanced RSHE in school
- communicate freely with staff, parents/carers and the governing body to ensure that everyone is in understanding of the school policy and curriculum for RSHE, and that any concerns or opinions regarding the provision at the school are listened to, taken into account and acted on as appropriate
- share the school's provision for RSHE with parents/carers in order to ensure they can support this at home
- communicate to parents/carers any additional support that is available from the school to support them with RSHE at home

iii) Governors

The governing body as a whole plays an active role in monitoring, developing and reviewing the policy and its implementation in school. The teaching and learning support committee within our governors work closely with, and in support of, the lead member/s of staff. When aspects of RSHE appear in the School Improvement Plan, a governor will be assigned to reflect on, monitor and review the work as appropriate.

As well as fulfilling their legal obligations, the governing body will also make sure that:

- all pupils make progress in achieving the expected educational outcomes
- the subjects are well led, effectively managed and well planned;
- the quality of provision is subject to regular and effective self-evaluation; teaching is delivered in ways that are accessible to all pupils with SEND;
- clear information is provided for parents on the subject content and the right to request that their child is withdrawn from appropriate areas
- the subjects are resourced, staffed and timetabled in a way that ensures that the school can fulfil its legal obligations

iv) Pupils

All pupils:

- are expected to attend the statutory National Curriculum Science elements of the RSHE curriculum and the statutory Relationships Education and Health Education curriculum
- should support one another with issues that arise through RSHE by, for example, alerting relevant members of staff to any potential worries or issues
- will listen in class, be considerate of other people's feelings and beliefs and comply with the ground rules that are set in class
- will have the opportunity to talk to a member of staff, in confidence, regarding any concerns they have in school related to RSHE or otherwise
- will be asked for feedback on the school's RSHE provision [termly/annually] and be expected to take this responsibility seriously; opinions on provision and comments will be reviewed by the lead member/s of staff for RSHE and taken into consideration when the curriculum is prepared for the following year's pupils

v) Parents/carers

The role of parents in the development of their children's understanding about relationships is vital. Parents are the first teachers of their children. They have the most significant influence in enabling their children to grow and mature and to form healthy relationships.

The school will:

- work closely with parents/carers when planning and delivering RSHE
- ensure that parents/carers know what will be taught and when, and clearly communicate the fact that parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of sex education delivered as part of RSHE
- give parents/carers every opportunity to understand the purpose and content of Relationships Education and RSHE
- communicate and give opportunities for parents/carers to understand and ask questions about the school's approach help increase confidence in the curriculum
- build a good relationship with parents/carers on these subjects over time by inviting parents into school to discuss what will be taught, address any concerns and help support them in managing conversations with their children on these issues

- encourage parents/carers to create an open home environment where pupils can engage, discuss and continue to learn about matters that have been raised through RSHE
- will reach out to all parents, including those who are hard to engage, recognising that a range of approaches may be needed for doing so

13. Parent/carers' right to withdraw

Parents/carers cannot withdraw their child from the statutory sex education content included in National Curriculum for Science which includes content on human development, including reproduction. Parents/carers also cannot withdraw their child from Relationships Education or Health Education because it is important that all children receive this content, covering topics such as friendships, how to stay safe and puberty. However, they do have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of sex education delivered as part of the non-statutory RSHE, delivered as part of the PSHE curriculum. Parents/carers will be directed to the school website to see how and when relationships education and RSHE are going to be taught across all year groups. Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 2 of this policy and addressed to the headteacher. Before granting any such, the head teacher will discuss this request with parents/carers and, as appropriate, with the child to ensure that their wishes are understood and to clarify the nature and purpose of the curriculum. This process will be documented to ensure a record is kept.

The head teacher will also discuss with parents/carers the benefits of receiving this important education and any detrimental effects that withdrawal might have on the child. This will include any social and emotional effects of being excluded, as well as the likelihood of the child hearing their peers' version of what was said in the classes, rather than what was directly said by the teacher. For example, 'If a pupil is withdrawn from the RSHE sessions, they will no doubt hear about the content of sessions from other pupils and this may not be in a supportive, controlled or safe environment, like the classroom would be. They may also seek out their own information via the internet, which may result in them finding out incorrect information and possibly put them in an unsafe situation. Pupils may also be stigmatised for not being included in these sessions.

RSHE is a vital part of the school curriculum and supports child development and we strongly advise parents/carers to carefully consider their decision before withdrawing their child from this aspect of school life. It is acknowledged however that the final decision on the issue is for the parents/carers to take and the child and family should not be stigmatised for the decision.

The school provides an information leaflet to parents/carers (Appendix 4) to provide further information on understanding Relationships Education. Support materials for home use will be offered. The school's arrangements for pupils withdrawn from RSHE would attend education in a different class for the time that the sex education is taught for. Pupils who are withdrawn from sex education lessons will receive alternative learning during this time, which will consist of revision and reflection activities based on other PSHE learning they have participated in throughout the year.

When possible, parents/cares will be invited to see the resources used within our RSHE lessons. Individual support will also be offered here if requested.

At secondary level, from three terms before a pupil turns 16, they can choose to opt back into sex education even if their parent has previously requested withdrawal. Schools must ensure pupils are aware of this option. Please note: this provision applies to secondary schools only and is not relevant to Farsley Westroyd as a primary school. It is included here for completeness and to support families' awareness as pupils approach transition to secondary school.

14. Responding to Emerging Issues and Communicating with Parents

The school regularly reviews its RSHE provision to ensure it remains relevant and responsive to pupils' needs. When changes are made to schemes of work or curriculum content, parents are informed of these changes. Parents are provided with information about RSE lessons their children will participate in at least one half term in advance. This communication includes details of lesson content, links to helpful websites and leaflets to support conversations at home, and a reminder of their right to withdraw from non-statutory sex education.

In addition to planned RSHE lessons, the school addresses current and emerging issues through weekly Picture News assemblies, which explore topics from around the world in an age-appropriate way. Classes also watch Newsround together, providing opportunities for pupils to discuss the latest news in a safe, supportive environment where they can ask questions. This approach ensures that pupils can engage with real-world issues as they arise, with guidance from trusted adults.

15. Staff Support & CPD

It is important that all staff feel comfortable to deliver RSHE lessons. The school provides regular professional development training in how to deliver RSHE. Staff, including non-teaching staff, CPD needs are identified and met through the following ways:

- training and support is organised by the PSHE co-ordinator in liaison with the Headteacher
- prior to teaching each lesson, staff are provided with CPD videos from Kapow Primary to watch in advance, ensuring their subject knowledge is as up to date as possible before delivering each session
- staff will be offered generic RSHE training which includes sessions on: confidentiality, creating a ground rules, handling controversial issues, responding to awkward questions, an introduction to the rationale of why teaching RSHE is so important, current law and guidance, learning outcomes and school policy
- staff involved in the delivery of issues seen as potentially more sensitive will be offered appropriate training to encourage confidence in dealing with matters of confidentiality, child protection, sensitive issues and potentially difficult questions
- the Health and Wellbeing Service will support in meeting staff CPD needs through a discussion with the RSHE co-ordinator

16. RSHE Provision

In the Foundation Stage PSHE falls under a Personal, Social and Emotional Development and is taught by drawing on a child's first-hand experiences and spontaneous activities. It is taught in Nursery and Reception throughout different topics and also through child-initiated learning and through the children's interests. We also use the Kapow Scheme of work, Pol-Ed, NSPCC resource 'Let's Talk Pants' to teach children about staying safe and ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends.

In Key Stage 1 and 2, the 2014 National Curriculum and Kapow Scheme of Work, ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends, NSPCC PANTS, Pol-Ed and Google Be Internet Legends is used to ensure coverage across the key stages. In Key Stage 1, ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends Legends Schemes of Work are used to cover internet safety and harms and online relationships found in the Statutory RSHE Guidance across both PSHE and computing lessons. In Key Stage 2, Google Be Internet Legends Schemes of Work are used to cover internet safety and harms and online relationships found in the Statutory RSHE Guidance across both PSHE and computing lessons.

Online Safety

Online safety, including recognising harmful content and unsafe situations online, is taught in an age-appropriate manner throughout the school. In Reception and Key Stage 1, this is delivered through ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends, and in Key Stage 2 through Google Be Internet Legends, alongside relevant content from the Kapow scheme. These programmes ensure pupils develop the knowledge and skills to stay safe online in a way that is suitable for primary-aged children.

Pupils are taught that there is a minimum age for joining social media sites (currently 13), which exists to protect children from inappropriate content and unsafe contact with older users, including strangers. This is covered through our online safety programmes including ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends, Google Be Internet Legends, Kapow PSHE lessons, and our Computing lessons delivered through the National Centre for Computing Education (NCCE).

Pupils are also taught about the risks relating to online gaming, including video game monetisation (such as in-game purchases and loot boxes), scams, fraud and other financial harms, and that gaming can become addictive. Pupils are supported to critically evaluate online content, including awareness that some content may be fake or generated by AI, and that not everything they see online is real or trustworthy.

Menstruation

Whilst the average age of the onset of menstruation is twelve, periods can start as early as eight. We therefore ensure this topic is covered before girls' periods are likely to start, helping them understand what to expect and avoid distress. The school uses appropriate language such as period pads and menstrual products, and makes sensitive arrangements to help girls prepare for and manage menstruation, including access to period products

General Wellbeing

Pupils are taught that isolation and loneliness can affect children, that feeling lonely is normal and nothing to be ashamed of, and that there are benefits to seeking support. Pupils learn that not everyone will have the friends they would like at all times, and that most people feel lonely sometimes

COVID

On reflection with the missed learning in 2020 and 2021 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, steps have been taken to ensure that any missed learning of RSHE has been filled in throughout our curriculum. Teachers have identified key gaps and have taken steps to ensure the teaching of these key lessons with their current year group.

Statutory aspects of Sex Education within the National Curriculum Science to be covered:

All schools must teach the following as part of the National Curriculum Science; parents/carers do not have the right to withdraw their child/children from this.

Key Stage 1:	Key Stage 2:
- identify, name, draw and label the basic parts of the human body and say which part of the body is associated with each sense - notice that animals, including humans, have offspring which grow into adults - describe the importance for humans of hygiene	- describe the differences in the life cycles of a mammal, an amphibian, an insect and a bird - describe the life process of reproduction in some plants and animals - describe the changes as humans develop to old age

Statutory aspects of Relationships Education:

Families and people who care for me	- that families are important for children growing up because they can give love, security and stability. - the characteristics of healthy family life, commitment to each other, including in times of difficulty, protection and care for children and other family members, the importance of spending time together and sharing each other's lives. - that others' families, either in school or in the wider world, sometimes look different from their family, but that they should respect those differences and know that other children's families are also characterised by love and care.
Caring friendships	- how important friendships are in making us feel happy and secure, and how people choose and make friends. - the characteristics of friendships, including mutual respect, truthfulness, trustworthiness, loyalty, kindness, generosity, trust, sharing interests and experiences and support with problems and difficulties. - that healthy friendships are positive and welcoming towards others, and do not make others feel lonely or excluded. - that most friendships have ups and downs, and that these can often be worked through so that the friendship is repaired or even strengthened, and that resorting to violence is never right. - how to recognise who to trust and who not to trust, how to judge when a friendship is making them feel unhappy or uncomfortable, managing conflict, how to manage these situations and how to seek help or advice from others, if needed.

Respectful relationships	- the importance of respecting others, even when they are very different from them (for example, physically, in character, personality or backgrounds), or make different choices or have different preferences or beliefs. - practical steps they can take in a range of different contexts to improve or support respectful relationships. - the conventions of courtesy and manners. - the importance of self-respect and how this links to their own happiness. - that in school and in wider society they can expect to be treated with respect by others, and that in turn they should show due respect to others, including those in positions of authority.
	- about different types of bullying (including cyberbullying), the impact of bullying, responsibilities of bystanders (primarily reporting bullying to an adult) and how to get help. - what a stereotype is, and how stereotypes can be unfair, negative or destructive. - the importance of permission-seeking and giving in relationships with friends, peers and adults.
Online relationships	- that people sometimes behave differently online, including by pretending to be someone they are not. - that the same principles apply to online relationships as to face-to-face relationships, including the importance of respect for others online including when we are anonymous. - the rules and principles for keeping safe online, how to recognise risks, harmful content and contact, and how to report them. - how to critically consider their online friendships and sources of information including awareness of the risks associated with people they have never met. - how information and data is shared and used online.
Being safe	- what sorts of boundaries are appropriate in friendships with peers and others (including in a digital context). - about the concept of privacy and the implications of it for both children and adults; including that it is not always right to keep secrets if they relate to being safe. - that each person's body belongs to them, and the differences between appropriate and inappropriate or unsafe physical, and other, contact. - how to respond safely and appropriately to adults they may encounter (in all contexts, including online) whom they do not know. - how to recognise and report feelings of being unsafe or feeling bad about any adult. - how to ask for advice or help for themselves or others, and to keep trying until they are heard. - how to report concerns or abuse, and the vocabulary and confidence needed to do so. - where to get advice e.g. family, school and/or other sources.

Statutory aspects of Health Education (which apply to RSHE)

Health and prevention	about personal hygiene and germs including bacteria, viruses, how they are spread and treated, and the importance of handwashing.
Changing adolescent body	- key facts about puberty and the changing adolescent body, particularly from age 9 through to age 11, including physical and emotional changes. - about menstrual wellbeing including the key facts about the menstrual cycle. - The correct names of body parts, including the penis, vulva, vagina, testicles, scrotum, nipples. Pupils should understand that all of these parts of the body are private and have skills to understand and express their own boundaries around these body parts. - The facts about the menstrual cycle, including physical and emotional changes. Whilst the average age of the onset of menstruation is twelve, periods can start at eight, so covering this topic before girls' periods start will help them understand what to expect and avoid distress

Non-statutory RSHE programme

The Relationships and Health elements of the RSHE programme are statutory. This includes lessons on puberty. The sex education elements of the RSHE programme are non-statutory. This part of the RSHE curriculum is covered in Year 6 as a full unit of 6 lessons, delivered during Summer Term 2. Parents are notified in advance of this unit in line with the school's usual communication process, and are reminded of their right to request withdrawal from this non-statutory content.

The needs of pupils

We recognise that an interactive approach to RSHE will better develop the skills of our pupils and also that it is more likely to meet their needs. We involve pupils in the planning, development and evaluation of their RSHE in ways appropriate to their age, stage and development.

We will involve pupils through:

- discussions with small groups of pupils
- questionnaires/surveys (e.g. the My Health My School Survey)
- use of the RSHE consultation toolkit
- school council meetings
- full class consultation activities which ensure all pupils have a voice in the process

Topics to be covered

RSHE needs to start early so that children learn about different kinds of relationships like families and friendships and so they can recognise if other people make them feel uncomfortable or unsafe. Lots of children start puberty before they leave primary school, so it is important that all pupils know what to expect before it happens. It is good to have some RSHE in every year of primary school as it helps pupils to learn progressively as they mature and revisit the subject on a regular basis, to reinforce learning and provide opportunities to ask further questions.

Delivery of RSHE

Pupils receive their entitlement for RSHE through a spiral curriculum, in timetabled slots, which demonstrates progression. The RSHE programme is delivered through a variety of opportunities including:

- designated RSHE time
- frequency of sessions
- use of external agencies/services
- school ethos
- small group work
- cross curricular links e.g. science
- assemblies
- enrichment days / weeks

Class teachers are expected to teach the RSHE curriculum. They have received training through the PSHE lead sharing what has been learnt on RSHE courses through regular staff meetings. Staff have the regular opportunity to share their thoughts and opinions on how RSHE is taught throughout school. RSHE is taught as a whole class and classes are organised in mixed ability. Children learn best by hands-on practical experience where this is at all possible and by discovery with guidance. Teaching strategies will encompass a mixture of teacher led activities and demonstrations with whole class, group, paired or individual experiences as appropriate, depending on the needs of the children and content, in order to stimulate and motivate pupils.

Working with visitors and other external agencies

Where appropriate, we may use visitors from external agencies or members of the community to support RSHE.

Working with external organisations enhances delivery of RSHE, bringing in specialist knowledge, which gives different ways of engaging with our pupils. When using visitors, the school's policy on use of visitors will be used. A teacher will be present throughout these lessons. Visitors will be given a copy of this policy, and any other relevant policies, and expected to comply with the guidelines outlined within it. Our partnership with the local community is also a priority, and we recognise and value its contribution to the RSHE programme.

We will ensure that the teaching delivered by the visitor fits with our planned programme and policy. We will discuss the detail of how the visitor will deliver their sessions and ensure that the content is age-appropriate and accessible for our pupils. We will ask to see the materials visitors will use as well as a lesson plan in advance, so that we can ensure it meets the full range of pupils' needs.

We will agree in advance of the session how confidentiality will work in any lesson and how a safeguarding report should be dealt with by the external visitor. It is also important that children understand how confidentiality will be handled in a lesson and what might happen if they choose to make a report.

Before involving visitors in any aspect of RSHE, teachers will ensure that:

- the visitor understands the school's confidentiality policy, values and approach to the educational programme
- there is appropriate planning, preparatory and follow up work for the sessions
- the visitor understands the emotional, intellectual, cultural, religious, social and ability level of the pupils involved, including where there may be a specific issue relating to child protection
- the teacher needs to be part of the experience in order for the pupils to value the lessons and to build on the pupils' learning after the session/s as well as answer any questions the pupils may subsequently have
- the guidelines and checklist (Appendix 1.1 and 1.2) will be used with the visitor to ensure success

Vetting and Quality Assurance of External Visitors

Before any external visitor delivers RSHE content, the school will ensure:

- The visitor or their organisation has appropriate DBS clearance
- The visitor has public liability insurance where appropriate
- Session plans and resources are submitted in advance for review by the RSHE lead
- Content aligns with our school values, ethos and this policy
- Materials are age-appropriate and inclusive
- The visitor understands and agrees to follow school safeguarding and confidentiality procedures
- A pre-visit meeting or call takes place to discuss learning objectives, pupil needs, and any sensitivities
- Post-session evaluation is completed jointly by school staff and the visitor

The checklists in Appendix 1.1 and 1.2 are used to ensure consistent quality assurance for all external visitor involvement.

The school will not agree to any contractual restrictions that prevent sharing RSHE materials with parents. All external providers are informed that parents have the right to view any materials used in RSHE teaching, and that any contractual clauses seeking to prevent this are void and unenforceable.

Inclusion, equality and diversity

We are required by law to comply with relevant requirements of the Equality Act 2010. All pupils are entitled to quality RSHE that helps them build confidence and a positive sense of self, and to stay healthy. We include all pupils regardless of their age, sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, or sexual orientation.

All classes include pupils with different abilities and aptitudes, experiences, religious/cultural backgrounds, gender and sexual identities. To encourage pupils to participate in lessons, teachers will ensure content, approach and use of inclusive language reflects the diversity of the school community and helps each and every pupil to feel valued and included in the classroom.

We promote the needs and interest of all pupils. The school's approaches to teaching and learning take into account the ability, age, readiness and cultural backgrounds of the pupils to ensure all can access the full RSHE provision. We promote social learning and expect our pupils to show a high regard for the needs of others. RSHE is an important vehicle for addressing both multicultural and gender issues and ensuring equal opportunities for all.

Responding to pupils' diverse learning needs:

Considerations will be made for:

- religious and cultural diversity
- differing gender needs and abilities, including SEND
- diverse sexuality of pupils
- homophobic/transphobic/biphobic bullying and behaviour
- pupil's age and physical and emotional maturity
- pupils who are new to English

Ethnicity, religion and cultural diversity:

Our policy values the different backgrounds of all pupils in school and, in acknowledging and exploring different views and beliefs, seeks to promote respect and understanding. We encourage respect for all religions and cultures. We do not ask pupils to represent the views of a particular religious or cultural group to their peers, unless they choose to do so. We ensure that all faith/religious backgrounds of pupils are taken into account when planning teaching, so that topics are appropriately handled. At the request of a parent, scripts of the lesson will be given so that the parent can ensure the child's faith/religious needs are met and both parent and teacher feel secure in what is being taught.

Single gender groups:

Our policy is sensitive to the needs of different groups. For some pupils, it may be more appropriate for them to be taught particular topics in single gender groups. We will consult parents/carers and pupils both on what is included, and on how it is delivered. This will help pupils and their families to establish what is appropriate and acceptable for them. Working in single gender groups can considerably ease concerns about RSHE and help to ensure that pupils receive the RSHE to which they are entitled. Single gender groups can also help boys and girls to feel safer and less embarrassed about airing issues and discussing relationships. Where single gender groups are used for pupils, they will always be given time after the sessions to come together in a controlled environment to share and discuss what they have learnt, before leaving the classroom.

Special educational needs and disabilities (SEND):

RSHE helps all pupils understand their physical and emotional development and enable them to make positive decisions in their lives. We ensure that all pupils receive RSHE and we offer provision appropriate to the particular needs of our pupils, taking specialist advice where necessary. Staff will differentiate lessons to ensure that all members of the class can access the information fully. The school will use a variety of different strategies to ensure that all pupils have access to the same information.

Some pupils will be more vulnerable to abuse and exploitation than their peers, and others may be confused about what is acceptable public behaviour. These pupils will need help to develop skills to reduce the risks of being abused and exploited, and to learn what sorts of behaviour are, and are not, acceptable.

Where a pupil is receiving SEN support, schools should talk to parents regularly to set clear outcomes and review progress towards them, discuss the activities and support that will help achieve them, and identify the responsibilities of the parent, the pupil and the school. Schools should meet parents at least three times each year.

These discussions can build confidence in the actions being taken by the school, but they can also strengthen the impact of SEN support by increasing parental engagement in the approaches and teaching strategies that are being used. Finally, they can provide essential information on the impact of SEN support outside school and any changes in the pupil's needs.

SEND Code of Practice: 0 – 25 years, 2014

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Plus (LGBT+):

We have a clear duty under the Equality Act 2010 to ensure that our teaching is accessible to all pupils, including those who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or + (LGBT+). Inclusive RSHE will foster good relations between pupils, tackle all types of prejudice, including homophobia, and promote understanding and respect, enabling us to meet the requirements, and live the intended spirit, of the Equality Act 2010.

We will deal sensitively and honestly with issues of sexual orientation and identity, answer appropriate questions and offer support. Pupils, whatever their developing sexuality or identity, need to feel that RSHE is relevant to them. Teachers will never assume that all intimate relationships are between opposite sexes. Information will be inclusive and will include LGBT people in stories, scenarios and role-plays. We will ensure all pupils can explore topics from a different gender's point of view, and a variety of activities, including practical tasks, discussions, group activities and competitions. We will also ensure that our teaching is sensitive and age appropriate in approach and content. We ensure that relevant knowledge and examples of LGBT+ are included throughout programmes of study and inclusive language is used throughout all curriculum areas taught in school.

Pupils who are new to English

The school will take into account the language skills of individual pupils, ensuring that all pupils have equal access to the RSHE provision and resources.

Resources

We use primarily the Kapow scheme of work, ThinkUKnow Jessie & Friends, Pol-Ed, NSPCC PANTS and Google Be Internet Legends Schemes of Work and the resources recommended within it. We will focus on the needs of the pupils and our planned learning objectives. We select carefully the resources which meet these objectives. We carefully evaluate teacher resources, leaflets, online resources and videos before using them. Updated and new resources are shared regularly with the staff to ensure top quality resources are being used to meet any changes. A full list of resources used within our lessons taken from the Kapow Primary scheme of work is available on our website for parents/carers to view if they wish.

Kapow Primary is currently producing a fully revised RSE and PSHE scheme of work, designed to align with the updated 2025 DfE Statutory Guidance. This new scheme is due to be ready for implementation in September 2026, in line with the statutory deadline for schools. It is expected to include new curriculum content introduced by the 2025 guidance, including vaping and nicotine awareness, online misogyny, and updated content relating to gender and biological sex. The school will review and update this policy once the new Kapow scheme is adopted, to reflect any changes to curriculum content and coverage.

Parent Access to Curriculum Materials

All curriculum materials used in RSHE are available for parents to view on request. Materials can be viewed via our school website, at parent workshops, or by appointment at the school office. Where copyright applies, parents accessing materials agree not to copy or share content further except as authorised under copyright law. The school acknowledges the authorship of all external providers when sharing resources.

Kapow Primary includes a feature that allows teachers to share upcoming lesson content directly with parents on request, so that families can see what will be covered and support conversations at home. Parents wishing to use this facility should contact the school office. Parents can also access the Kapow Parent Zone at any time for an overview of RSHE lesson content, supporting resources and guidance on how to talk with their child about the topics covered: www.kapowprimary.com/subjects/rse-pshe/curriculum/rse-pshe-parent-information/.

We use children's books (both fiction and non-fiction), leaflets, online resources and videos extensively within our RSHE programme. Teachers will always read and assess the resources before using them to ensure they are appropriate for the planned work. They will also consider the needs and circumstances of individual pupils in class when using these resources in case they need to have a preparatory conversation with a pupil before the teaching takes place. At Westroyd, we have made it our aim to ensure there is a wide range of books that demonstrates different family makeups to meet the needs of the children within our school. These are used within RSHE lessons and other lessons across the curriculum.

At Westroyd we understand the importance the role of a Learning Support Assistant and Learning Mentor can play when supporting children with their learning. Therefore, Learning Support Assistants are actively involved in teaching and learning opportunities by supporting individuals or small groups within lessons.

i) Learning environment and additional non-negotiable ground rules

Staff are careful to ensure their personal beliefs and attitudes do not influence the teaching of RSHE. To this end, ground rules have been agreed to provide a framework of common values within which to teach. There are clear parameters as to what will be taught in a whole class setting, and what will be dealt with on an individual basis.

In addition to the ground rules used in PSHE, we will develop non-negotiable ground rules for lessons and discussions related to RSHE. If pupils are to benefit fully from an RSHE programme, they need to be confident speakers, good listeners and effective, sensitive communicators. When the needs of pupils are analysed, of overriding importance are two key areas: they need to feel safe and be safe. Additional, non-negotiable ground rules will help staff to create a safe and relaxed environment in which they do not feel embarrassed or anxious about unexpected questions or comments from the pupils. They also reduce the possibility of inappropriate behaviour and the disclosure of inappropriate personal information.

Our additional, non-negotiable ground rules are:

- Confidentiality: 'what is said in the room, stays in the room' except if anyone mentions something which could be harmful or put them at risk – then will have to pass the information on to help keep them safe
- It's not OK to ask personal questions of each other or the teacher but we can put questions in the box for later.
- Don't use names: if you want to ask about or share a personal story or experience, you can speak in the third person about 'someone I know', 'a friend', 'a situation I've heard about/read about'
- We will try to only ask questions related to what we are learning in the lesson.
- We will use the anatomical terms for the sexual body parts.
- It is ok to say pass / not join in.
- We will respect different opinions, situations & backgrounds.

We will develop the ground rules through conversations with the children at the start of RSHE lessons.

These Non-Negotiable Ground Rules are found on a poster in every classroom across the school (appendix 5). The teacher will then add any other Ground Rules that have been set and discussed with their own class to meet the needs of their individual pupils. These same Ground Rules will also be displayed at the start of every PowerPoint used within PSHE/RSHE lessons to ensure they are always covered at the start of the lessons.

ii) Assessment, recording and reporting in RSHE

We assess pupils' learning in RSHE in line with approaches used in the rest of the curriculum (including assessment for learning). We report to parents/carers at the end of the school year on pupils' learning within RSHE.

- Formative assessment is embedded throughout Kapow Primary's RSE & PSHE lessons to ensure that teachers can gauge pupils' understanding in real time and adapt their teaching accordingly.
- Questioning – lesson plans include targeted and open-ended questions to check understanding, promote critical thinking and address misconceptions.
- Observation – teachers are supported to observe pupils during tasks, noting how they approach activities, collaborate and apply geographical skills.
- Discussion and peer interaction – pair and group discussions are built into lessons, providing opportunities for pupils to articulate their thinking and for teachers to assess understanding through dialogue.
- Lesson pauses – plans include strategic pause points for checking comprehension, summarising learning and addressing any common errors before progressing.
- Retrieval practice – recap activities such as short recall tasks and oral explanations are embedded to reinforce prior knowledge and assess retention.
- Use of success criteria – success criteria are shared within lessons, allowing pupils to self-assess or peer-assess their work and reflect on their progress.

- Short reflections in the Wrapping up – lessons end with brief written or verbal reflections, enabling pupils to consolidate learning and teachers to gauge understanding.
- Needs assessment is used to identify existing knowledge and skills of pupils
- Pupil self-assessment is used where appropriate
- Assessment focuses on knowledge as well as skill development and attitudes
- Identify pupils who have exceeded or fallen short of the module objectives and those that have achieved it
- Teachers will keep a note of pupils who have missed some or the entire module due to absence from school

iii) Monitoring and evaluation

The My Health My School Pupil Perception Survey (or equivalent) is used to gather pupil voice data. Results are reviewed annually by the RSHE lead, and key findings are used to inform curriculum planning and identify any areas requiring additional focus for the following academic year.

Monitoring activities:

- recording of pupil attendance in RSHE lessons
- effective PSHE leadership with a system of lesson observations and peer support
- a system for regular review of the RSHE policy and programme
- pupil and staff interviews/questionnaires
- pupil/staff/parent surveys
- scrutinising staff planning
- samples of pupils' work

Evaluation activities:

- teacher and pupil evaluation of lessons, units and the overall RSHE programme
- teacher and pupil evaluation of resources
- evidence from lesson observations
- evaluation of contributions of external partners
- feedback and evaluation by pupils
- scrutiny of assessment records
- sampling pupils' work and portfolios

17. Safeguarding and Child Protection

Through Relationships Education (and RSHE), we will teach pupils the knowledge they need to recognise and to report abuse, including emotional, physical and sexual abuse. This will be delivered by focusing on boundaries and privacy, ensuring young people understand that they have rights over their own bodies. This will also include understanding boundaries in friendships with peers and also in families and with others, in all contexts, including online.

Pupils will be taught how to report concerns and seek advice when they suspect or know that something is wrong. At all stages it will be important to balance teaching children about making sensible decisions to stay safe (including online) whilst being clear it is never the fault of a child who is abused and why victim blaming is always wrong. These subjects complement Health Education and as part of a comprehensive programme and whole.

Children have the right to:

- say no
- respect their own body
- speak out and know that someone can help

When teaching any sensitive issue young people may give cause for concern. All adults are aware of our safeguarding arrangements and procedures. If the school has any reason to believe a pupil is at risk, advice from Leeds Child Protection Team will be sought.

We recognise that children are capable of abusing their peers and that peer-on-peer abuse can manifest in many different ways, including on-line bullying, sharing inappropriate images, initiation/hazing (an activity expected of someone joining or participating in a group that humiliates, degrades, abuses or endangers them, regardless of a person's willingness to participate) and inappropriate/harmful sexual behaviours.

Staff Awareness of Specific Safeguarding Issues

Whilst these topics are not explicitly taught as discrete lessons within our RSHE programme, all staff at Farsley Westroyd receive training and are aware of their safeguarding duties in relation to the following specific issues: sexting and the sending of inappropriate images; online pornography and its potential harms; child sexual exploitation (CSE); forced marriage; and female genital mutilation (FGM). Staff understand the school's procedures for responding to any concerns in these areas and know how to refer appropriately to the Designated Safeguarding Lead. This awareness is embedded within the school's wider safeguarding training and is updated in line with current guidance from Keeping Children Safe in Education.

Our use of the anatomical terms for body parts helps to ensure that children are able to describe abusive behaviours if they need to.

Ground rules at the start of sessions help to establish and maintain a safe learning environment; this is important for good learning to take place, and also contributes to effective safeguarding.

18. Confidentiality in the context of RSHE lessons

The nature of RSHE means that pupils may disclose personal information that staff will respond to appropriately. The classroom is never a confidential place to talk, and that remains true in RSHE. Pupils will be reminded that lessons are not a place to discuss their personal experiences and issues, or to ask others to do so, through the establishment of ground rules. Any visitor to the classroom will be bound by the school's policy on confidentiality, regardless of whether they have, or their organisation has, a different policy. We will make sure visitors are aware of this, and make sure there are enough opportunities for pupils to access confidential support after the lesson if they need it.

Any information disclosed to a staff member or other responsible adult, which causes concern about the child's safety, will be communicated to the designated person as soon as possible and always within 24 hours, in line with our safeguarding and child protection policy.

If a pupil tells a health professional, such as the school nursery, something personal on a one-to-one basis outside of the classroom, our school's confidentiality policy will help us to decide whether that person can keep that information confidential, or whether they need to seek help, advice, or refer to someone else. We will also signpost pupils and their families, where appropriate, to on and offline community, health and counselling services so pupils know where to go for confidential help and advice.

Techniques used in school to minimise the chance of pupils making a disclosure in an RSHE lesson include:

- depersonalising discussion
- puppets
- using role play to 'act out' scenarios
- appropriate DVDs and TV extracts
- case studies with invented characters
- visits to/from outside agencies

19. Support

We hope that pupils will feel safe in the school environment to talk to any member of staff in confidence about any areas of concern regarding their personal, social or emotional development, including matters raised by, or relating to, RSHE. We promote the school ethos as one of inclusion and acceptance throughout all areas of school activity and hope that pupils respond to this by feeling comfortable to ask questions and continue their learning both in and outside of the classroom.

Pupils are informed at the end of every Kapow lesson where they can access support. They are regularly reminded of trusted adults within school whom they can speak to if they have any worries or concerns.

Pupils are aware of the following specific sources of support, both inside and outside of school:

20. Inside school: any member of staff; our Designated Safeguarding Leads (DSLs), who are identifiable by their purple lanyards; and our Pastoral Lead, who provides dedicated pastoral and SEMH support for pupils who need additional help.

21. Outside school: ChildLine (0800 1111, available 24 hours), which provides free, confidential support for children and young people on any issue; NSPCC Helpline (0808 800 5000); MindMate (www.mindmate.org.uk) for mental health and wellbeing support for children and young people in Leeds; and the school office, which can signpost families to local services. Pupils are signposted to these resources at the end of relevant Kapow lessons.

22. Advice and treatment

There is no reason for staff to expect to be made aware of a pupil or colleague's HIV or hepatitis status, and no person will be discriminated against because of this if there is a disclosure of this type of information. The school's first aid policy covers protection for all school members against infection from blood-borne viruses.

23. Complaints

Parents/carers who have complaints or concerns regarding the RSHE provision should contact the school and follow the school's complaints policy.

24. Liaison with local media

Please contact the press and media office on: 0113 378 6007

25. Liaison with other settings

As a standalone primary school, we are not part of a cluster, trust or federation. We do not have a designated secondary feeder school. To ensure continuity and progression within our own setting, we have developed a long-term plan that shows how RSHE lessons delivered in our Nursery classes (predominantly through Pol-Ed) feed into and build upon learning in Reception and throughout the school. This ensures a coherent, spiral curriculum from Nursery through to Year 6 with no gaps or unnecessary duplication.

Whilst there is no formal federation or cluster arrangement, we do maintain informal transition links with local secondary schools. Representatives from local secondary schools visit Farsley Westroyd during the summer term to meet with Year 6 pupils and staff to support transition to high school. This helps to ensure that pupils leave primary school feeling prepared and supported, and provides an opportunity to share information about the curriculum, including RSHE, to support continuity of learning as children move into Key Stage 3.

26. Local support available to schools

The Health and Wellbeing Service can offer support through training, bespoke lessons and in school advisory sessions.

Further information on the above training, as well as how to book, can be found at:

Understanding Relationships and Health Education in your child's primary school: a guide for parents

We want all children to grow up healthy, happy, safe, and able to manage the challenges and opportunities of modern Britain. That is why, from September 2020, all primary age children will be taught Relationships and Health Education.

These subjects are designed to equip your child with knowledge to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships as well as preparing them for a successful adult life. The world for all young people looks very different from the way it did 20 years ago when this curriculum was last updated – these changes bring the content into the 21st century, so that it is relevant for your child.

Your child's school will have flexibility to deliver the content in a way that is age and developmentally appropriate and sensitive to the needs and religious background of its pupils.

Relationships Education

Relationships Education will put in place the building blocks needed for positive and safe relationships, including with family, friends and online.

Your child will be taught what a relationship is, what friendship is, what family means and who can support them. In an age-appropriate way, your child's school will cover how to treat each other with kindness, consideration and respect.

By the end of primary school, pupils will have been taught content on:

- families and people who care for me
- caring friendships
- respectful relationships
- online relationships
- being safe

You can find further detail by searching 'relationships and health education' on GOV.UK.

Health Education

Health Education aims to give your child the information they need to make good decisions about their own health and wellbeing, to recognise issues in themselves and others, and to seek support as early as possible when issues arise.

By the end of primary school, pupils will have been taught content on:

- mental wellbeing
- internet safety and harms
- physical health and fitness
- healthy eating
- facts and risks associated with drugs, alcohol and tobacco
- health and prevention
- basic first aid
- changing adolescent body

You can find further detail by searching 'relationships and health education' on GOV.UK.

Your rights as a parent

The important lessons you teach your child about healthy relationships, looking after themselves and staying safe, are respected and valued under this new curriculum. Teaching at school will complement and reinforce the lessons you teach your child as they grow up.

Your child's school is required to consult with you when developing and renewing their policies on Relationships Education. These policies must be published online and be available to anybody free of charge.

You can express your opinion, and this will help your child's school decide how and when to cover the content of the statutory guidance. It may also help them decide whether to teach additional non-statutory content. Schools are required to ensure their teaching reflects the age and religious background of their pupils.

Some schools will start to teach these subjects from September 2019 - if you'd like to know more, please speak to your child's school about what they plan to teach.

Right to withdraw your child

You cannot withdraw your child from Relationships Education because it is important that all children receive this content, covering topics such as friendships and how to stay safe.

Your child's primary school can choose to teach Sex Education. If you'd like to know more about this, we recommend speaking to the school to understand what will be taught and when. If you do not want your child to take part in some or all of the lessons on Sex Education, you can ask that they are withdrawn. At primary level, the head teacher must grant this request.

The science curriculum in all maintained schools also includes content on human development, including reproduction, which there is no right to withdraw from.

Appendix 5: Ground Rules

Farsley Westroyd's PSHE Ground Rules

- 1 Confidentiality
What is said in the room stays in the room, unless someone may be unsafe. Then an adult may need to share information to help keep them safe.

- 2 No Names
When sharing a story, we can say "someone I know", "a friend" or "a situation I've heard about".

- 3 Respect
We will be kind, listen to each other and respect different ideas and opinions.

- 4 Personal Questions
We will not ask personal questions of each other or the teacher. We can put questions in our Wonder Box.

- 5 Correct Words
We will use the correct words when talking about our bodies.

- 6 Questions for Learning
We will try to ask questions that are related to what we are learning.

- 7 Pass
We have the right to say "pass" if we do not want to answer a question.
